EXPRESS YOURSELF!

Thank you for your support of the Eagle Creek dream—a world where each person's inner child is treated with gentle compassion. I've always believed there are thousands of people who want to support children in ways that help them to be peaceful and content. Daily there are many, many children around the United States and throughout the world who experience the emotional pains that come with death and other separation moments. I believe we can help them work through their journey in healthy ways.

I am certain that you want to help children receive a rainbow of hope in their lives. This brochure is designed to help you catch the vision of Better Days and the significance of bibliotherapy, a method for touching the heart and soul of the child within each of us.

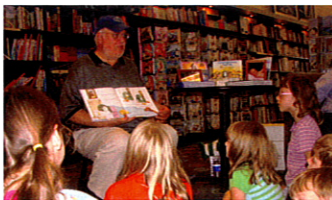

Together we can make a difference. Lonely lives can grow to understand that lonely doesn't have to be filled with darkness (Incredibly Lonely, That's Me). Sad lives can learn that unconditional love really does comfort them (My Friend, Matilda). And emotionally uncertain lives can discover that all their emotions are validated (From Here To There).

I hope that you will consider supporting Better Days. Together we can bring Rainbows of Hope to Hurting Hearts. Thank you for your generosity.
